Sherry,

My original intention was to collect information from only our Fort Resolution beneficiaries that have some recorded TK and Land Use information available. Instead of going with this initial approach I encourage input from all 3 communities and our Yellowknife Field Office. Some have expressed interest in reporting traditional fishing activity along side the land use. Because of the nature of the exploration I believe that recording the fishing activity is as important as recording the land use.

Given the interest expressed by the communities I believe that the original target date of today is not very realistic.

I would be aiming at late this month or early September as a delivery date.

Jason,

Thank you for the update. For clarity, would you still like this information included in the cumulative effects study? If so, what is your expected completion date? If possible, I would like to be able to include this in my status report to the Review Board tomorrow.

Regards,
Sherry

Sherry,

In regards to the above noted issue the NWTMN will not be able to make today's deadline for submissions. The volume of information was under estimated and will take longer than expected to collect.

In light of this reality the NWTMN will have to submit our report at a future date.

I trust that this is acceptable.
