RE: Ekati Mine Engagement Plan Version 2.1 for Jay Project

Dear Mr. Hubert:

In response to your request of June 12, 2014, attached is an amendment to the Ekati Diamond Mine Engagement Plan (V.2.1) that specifically addresses the Jay Project. Community engagement is a foundation element of Dominion's plans for operation and continued development of the Ekati Mine and Dominion is proud of its achievements to date, most notably the change from the initially proposed "Jay-Cardinal Project" to the "Jay Project" which was based in large part on community feedback.

As you are aware, an Engagement Plan is required under the Ekati Diamond Mine Water Licence (W2012L2-0001) and Version 2.0 of the Plan was approved by the Wek'eezhii Land and Water Board in May 2014. The primary change for Version 2.1 of the Plan is the addition of Table 3, which provides an engagement summary specific to the Jay Project. Version 2.1 is not linked to the Water Licence and is not intended for Water Board review and approval.

Thank you for your interest. We trust that this information will be of interest to the Review Board's work on the Jay Project. Please contact the undersigned at (867) 669-6107 should you have any questions.

Sincerely

Dominion Diamond Ekati Corporation

EKATI MINE

ENGAGEMENT PLAN

VERSION 2.1 FOR JAY PROJECT

Version 2.1
June 2014

Introduction

The Ekati Diamond Mine was the first diamond mine licenced and operated in the Northwest Territories. Comprehensive community engagement about the Ekati Mine has been undertaken on a continual basis since 1994, when engagement on the initial mine concept was initiated. As such, engagement practices and community relationships are well established.

Dominion Diamond Corporation purchased BHP Billiton's 80% interest in the Ekati Diamond Mine in April 2013, and has operated the mine since that time. Dominion is building on and advancing past engagement practices, undertaking regular engagement meetings between Dominion senior management and community leadership. Dominion is also undertaking specific engagement activities related to new project proposals.

In 2013, the Land and Water Boards of the Mackenzie Valley (the Boards) published a document entitled Engagement and Consultation Policy (Policy), and an accompanying document entitled Engagement Guidelines for Applicants and Holders of Water Licences and Land Use Permits (Guidelines). The Renewal Water Licence for the Ekati Mine issued subsequently in 2013 requires that an Engagement Plan consistent with the Guidelines be provided to the Wek'eezhii Land and Water Board (WLWB) for approval (W2012L2-0001, Part B Item 11). The Ekati Mine Engagement Plan is written to satisfy this Licence requirement.

Affected Parties

Affected parties for the Ekati Mine were identified through the initial Environmental Impact Assessment completed in 1996. These have been maintained as the affected parties throughout the life of the Ekati Mine inclusive of the 2000 Environmental Impact Assessment of the Sable, Pigeon and Beartooth Expansion Project, the 2013 Environmental Impact Assessment of the Lynx Expansion Project, three Water Licence Renewals, and numerous technical reviews/approvals by the Water Boards.

The affected parties for the Ekati Mine are the same as those that have Impact Benefit Agreements, represented by:

- Tlicho Government;
- Hamlet of Kugluktuk and Kitikmeot Inuit Association;
- Yellowknives Dene First Nation and Lutsel K'e Dene First Nation; and
- North Slave Metis Alliance.

Dominion may engage with other Parties on a case by case basis as appropriate.

Past Engagement Activities

Since mine operations commenced in 1998, there have been numerous Water Board reviews of technical reports and approvals under the Water Licences. The Boards' review processes are public and transparent, and provide engagement through a number of methods that can include: written exchange of comments and responses, technical meetings and Public Hearings. In these cases, the Record of Engagement is the Water Boards' public registry, which contains all of the engagement documentation.

Additionally, there have been a number of topic-specific engagement programs throughout the life of the Ekati Mine. Each of these programs provided a specific engagement process and record in addition to the Board's own review process, often as pre-application engagement. In these cases, a Record of Engagement was provided by the Company as part of its submissions. Examples of these larger engagement programs include:

- 1994 to 1997: Engagement in support of the initial Environmental Impact Assessment and Water Licence.
- 2000 to 2002: Engagement in support of the Environmental Impact Assessment and Water Licence for the Sable, Pigeon and Beartooth Expansion Project.
- 2004 to 2005: Engagement in support of Renewal of the Ekati Water Licence.
- 2008 and 2009: Engagement in support of Renewal and Amalgamation of the Sable Pigeon and Beartooth Water Licence.
- 2012 and 2013: Engagement in support of Renewal of the (Amalgamated) Ekati Water Licence.
- 2013-14: Engagement in support of the (proposed) Lynx and Jay-Cardinal Expansion Projects.

Engagement Plan

Approach

Dominion adopts the definition and goals of engagement as provided in the Boards' Policy and Guidelines:

The communication and outreach activities a proponent undertakes with affected parties prior to and during the operation of a project.

... that affected parties, including Aboriginal organizations/governments, are able to:

- Develop an understanding of a proposed project or component of a project;
- Provide feedback during the engagement process on issues of concern with regards to a project; and
- Work towards building relationships with proponents that are operating in an area.

Dominion adopts several key principles for engagement that are provided in the Boards' Policy and Guidelines:

- Engagement assists the applicant in developing an understanding of the social, cultural, and environmental conditions in the area and to potentially adapt and improve the project in response to these conditions. (Guidelines S.1.0).
- The Ekati Mine Engagement Plan is primarily focused on engagement with the affected parties. The Guidelines states that proponents should focus their engagement efforts towards parties that will likely be the most directly impacted (S.3.2).
- Dominion relies on the Boards' review processes as a means of engagement on technical reviews and approvals under the Water Licence and Land use Permits. The Guidelines states that: The proponent's engagement efforts, along with the Boards' consultative process, contribute to meaningful involvement of affected parties (S.1.0).
- Dominion respects and responds to community engagement requests that may arise from time to time. For example, one of the Aboriginal communities may have specific interests and request specific information or meetings on that topic. Alternately, community leadership may request that some engagement activities be managed through a centralized body, such as the Tlicho Government's Kwe Beh Working Group.

- The form of engagement on a given topic should be appropriate to the nature of the issue/project at hand. The Policy states that: The Policy is also based on the premise that the appropriate level of engagement should reflect the scale, location, and nature of a proposed activity. The form of engagement may include those suggested in the Guidelines (Appendix B):
 - Written notifications;
 - Exchange of written comments and responses;
 - Face-to-face meetings;
 - Workshops; and
 - Community meetings with leadership, staff and public.

Primary Contacts

The primary contacts for engagement activities are listed below in Table 1.

Table 1. Primary Contacts

Organization	Primary Contact
Dominion	Head of Environment & Communities
Tlicho	Kwe Beh Working Group Chief-Wekweeti Chief Gameti Chief-Whati Chief-Behchoko
Yellowknives Dene	Chief-Dettah Chief-Ndilo
Lutsel K'e Dene	Chief
Inuit of Kugluktuk	Mayor of Kugluktuk President - Kitikmeot Inuit Association
North Slave Metis Alliance	President

Engagement for On-Going Operations

Engagement for on-going operations provides the foundation of essential community engagement that maintains relationships and the regular two-way exchange of information. The engagement activities range from formal IBA meetings with leadership from each of the Ekati Mine Impact Benefit Agreement groups to site-based activities wherein leadership, elders and youth are invited to visit the Ekati Mine for site visits or to take part in the environmental monitoring programs. There are also a number of routine report submissions to the WLWB, all of which are posted to the Board's public registry where any party can provide comment or questions.

Engagement for on-going operations includes such key activities as:

- meetings between Dominion senior management and community leadership (usually quarterly and in a public forum);
- annual community presentations of environmental monitoring information;
- annual community presentations of socio-economic monitoring information;
- various technical workshops and Board process for reviews of technical documents under the Water Licence;
- IBA meetings with community leadership (these discussions are confidential to Dominion and each party);
- elder/youth site visits for environmental monitoring programs (typically annual);
- Water Licence and Environmental Agreement Annual Report, which is provided in plain language and which is circulated to all parties for comment; and
- Annual (typical) site visit by the Wek'eezhii Land and Water Board.

As part of these activities, Dominion actively seeks out comments and questions from community members. Comments and questions are recorded and responded to by Dominion. These engagement activities also provided for the circulation of information about the Ekati Mine to the community members, thereby increasing the community members' understanding and capacity to provide comment and questions.

Engagement for Projects

Engagement for Projects provides focused engagement on larger projects or events. This includes, for example:

- Water Licence renewal applications; and
- new project or permit applications.

Engagement for Projects typically includes “pre-application” engagement that is carried out before the Company provides a project or renewal application to the Board. The purpose of the pre-application engagement is to provide progressively more details about a possible future project and seek initial community input, even while that possible project is under conceptual development. After submission of an application to the Board, the Board’s review process is initiated, and the Company continues its own additional community engagement as well.

Dominion’s current (2013-2014) engagement program for its Jay-Cardinal Project provides a good example of Dominion’s approach to project-based engagement. A summary of the approach is as follows:

1. Pre-application engagement beginning 6 months¹ prior to the initial submission to the Board, consisting of:
 - Engagement with directly affected parties;
 - Written exchanges;
 - Several face-to-face meetings with each party that include Dominion senior management;
 - Public meetings;
 - Meetings with community leadership;
 - Recording of community questions and concerns;
 - Submission to the Board of the pre-application Record of Engagement;and
2. On-Going Project Engagement, consisting of:
 - Participation in Board processes such as Community Scoping Sessions;
 - Additional engagement through written exchanges, public meetings, face-to-face meetings and workshops to discuss specific issues of interest, and to maintain two-way dialogue about the Project with the affected parties.

¹ In the case of the Jay-Cardinal Project, pre-application engagement was initiated immediately upon Dominion assuming ownership of the Ekati Mine in April 2013, and could not have been initiated sooner.

An example of a possible future project-based engagement program is Renewal of the Ekati Water Licence, which is currently required for August 2021. In this case, pre-application engagement would be conducted in 2020. The pre-application engagement would be conducted using appropriate mechanisms that have been effective in the past and that are consistent with the Boards' Guidelines, such as public meetings, meetings with community leadership and workshops. Other engagement mechanisms or community-specific mechanisms that may have been developed before that time through on-going engagement would also be implemented.

Summary

A summary of engagement triggers and methods is provided below in Table 2. A summary of the engagement triggers and methods specific to the Jay Project (actual to June 2014) is provided in Table 3.
